

Commerce Reporter

Huawei has launched its next-generation IdeaHub series intelligent endpoint for all-scenario smart office ecosystem on Friday.

The tool was launched aiming to improve efficiency for enterprises, especially remote collaboration during social distancing, said a press release.

Huawei IdeaHub is a brand-new productivity tool to create an all-scenario smart office in the cloud era.

This intelligent endpoint integrates multiple functions, including multi-screen collaboration between mobiles and PCs, interactive whiteboard, remote collaboration, FHD video conferencing, and built-in HD AppGallery.

It can be installed on a mobile stand or a wall in a variety of environments, including enterprise conference rooms, open office, and even home office rooms. Its excellent performance and flexible deployment provide an intelligent office and team collaboration for every working space.